Supertubes Margaret River Pinot Grigio 2018

Bunkers celebrates some of the south west's greatest surf breaks. The region is a magnet for both wine lovers and surfers from all over the world.

There is no more magical sound than the songs of Supertubes. The hum of perfectly formed barrels off Smith's beach has lured many. If the call is too loud, luckily Pinot Grigio pairs perfectly with a sun chair and ice bucket. Pinot Grigio, originally from the north of Italy, is a crisp, refreshing style with great length and flavour. Pronto!

If you want to find out more, carry on reading. If not, just twist the cap and enjoy!

WINEMAKER'S NOTE: Pale green-straw colour with lifted spice, fig and pear aromas. The palate is beautifully soft and fleshy with a dry and crisp flavoursome finish.

VINTAGE: After a moderate spring, vintage conditions were as smooth and warm as any we have experienced - an extraordinary run of fine clear weather. Some rain at veraison, but that helped rather than hindered.

VINEYARDS: Grapes sourced from our selected partner growers, this one from well east and south of the Margaret River township.

VINIFICATION: Picked in the cool of night, crushed and cold pressed, fermented and bottled early to preserve freshness.
